Comments:

Dayna's strong ability to communicate clearly, instruct using a wide range of instructional strategies, and develop lessons, which built of student's prior knowledge and interests, was evidenced in the students May 25, 2006—Summative Assessment responses to her. It became commonplace for students to approach her each morning enquiring about what they were going to be doing, and learning about, next. In a very short amount of time she developed a predictable routine with clear expectations but included wide range of activities that engaged even the most reluctant of learners.

In addition, Dayna was a valued participant in a cross-curricular, multi-classroom project, which incorporated math, language arts, social studies and math curriculum objectives. Through this project, she not only showcased her strong ability to plan with other teachers but also her creativity, flexibility, natural instinct in a classroom, and planning skills.

3. CLASSROOM LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

Comments:

Throughout her time at Buchanan, Dayna was a consummate professional and established herself as a valued team member. Her skills and input were invaluable as we progressed through our large project while also putting together a Christmas concert.

SUMMARY:

Areas for further growth:

Recommendation:

Areas for further growth or those that I feel are important for any educator to focus on, regardless of experience: differentiation, inclusion, assessment for learning, and student engagement strategies.

Overall comments (Strongest aspects of student's performance):

University Consultant

Creativity, organization and flexibility shine as strengths for Dayna. Her planning and lesson delivery always reflected determination to engage individual learners by incorporating activities which were varied and tailored to address a wide range of learning styles/preferences. Dayna was always keenly aware of how students were responding and if learning was occurring. If a lesson was not progressing as she had hoped or individual students were struggling, she recognized this and was able to seamlessly adapt "on the fly", Dayna is a "natural" in the classroom and I would not hesitate to grab the opportunity to work with her in the future.
